DESCRIPTION

2026 Jeep Cherokee Laredo

At its heart, this powertrain is a self-charging hybrid (HEV) that blends mechanical combustion with immediate electric power. -The Combustion Engine: A downsized 1.6-liter turbocharged four-cylinder gas engine. It is engineered to extract maximum energy from a smaller displacement by using turbocharging to force more air into the cylinders, providing the punch of a larger engine without the high fuel consumption. -The Dual-Motor Setup: Two electric motors work alongside the gas engine. One motor primarily acts as a generator to capture braking energy and restart the engine seamlessly. The second, larger motor provides direct electric propulsion to assist the gas engine during acceleration. -The Planetary eCVT: Instead of a traditional geared automatic transmission, it uses an electronic continuously variable transmission (eCVT). This system manages power flow from both the engine and th...
